

Painting Group – Report March 2025

This month, six of us turned up, and we welcomed our new member, Beverley. Due to Anne still not able to attend, I had suggested in a previous email, that we each bring something we'd like to work on. Most of us chose to use watercolours, whilst others chose acrylics.

The subject matters though, were very diverse, ranging through landscapes, townscapes, flowers, trees, birds and houses. We all worked in our own individual styles, producing colourful and detailed pieces of work.

Although the kitchen was not available to us, due to preparation on Lenten lunches, the work was punctuated by sharing flasks of coffee and munching on Kit Kats. It was a very enjoyable and productive session.
