

Heart Of England Tour

When we had a talk about the National Arboretum at U3A several years ago, I was determined to visit. Researching holidays I found that National Holidays were offering a trip not only to the Arboretum but also to Stratford, Warwick and Lichfield. All the places were great but we agreed that the Arboretum was the most spectacular.

The company was lovely, all 22, of us. The majority of us, sadly, were single but safe in the knowledge that we were not alone and there was always a friendly face in the hotel, or on the coach.

It was my first encounter with National Holidays, and I am sure it will be the last! It is the first time I have stayed in a hotel with m y o b, which stands for make your own bed, as there was no room service. However, I accept that you get what you pay for and it was the cheapest coach holiday I have ever been on.

Fortunately next year's trip to Tenby is more expensive!
