

Future Workshops

Medieval Winter – a talk by local historian, Kim Harding

9th November 2pm – 4pm in Guide HQ, Birch Road, Barnard Castle

Cost: £3 payable on the day

Exploring the customs of the preceding months and how late fifteenth century folk both celebrated and survived the darkest months of the year, Kim's illustrated talk on 'Medieval Winter' will reveal how festivities and feasting were only a part of the seasonal activities of Yuletide, New Year and beyond. If you have ever wondered what medieval revelries and Christmas traditions have been handed down to us today, come and find out just how long the season of Christmas really lasted and what outrageous knavery was permitted by both the Church and the royal court in its 'topsy-turvy' days.

Cocktails and Mocktails – led by the Workshop committee.

13th December 4pm – 6pm Thorngate, Barnard Castle

Cost: £10

Only one place remaining!

A Users Guide to AI – an interactive workshop led by Pete Redgrave.

17th January 10am – 12 noon in the Witham Room, The Witham

This is a follow on from Pete's talk to the Science and Technology group on the Perks and perils of AI.

NB: This workshop is now FULL but is likely to be repeated as there are already eight people on the reserve list

Classics in a Nutshell part 2 – led by Tim Meacham

21st February 10am – 12 noon in the Guide HQ, Birch Road, Barnard Castle

Cost £2 payable on the day

To book a place on any of the above workshops, contact Sue Overton at the monthly meeting or email sueoverton@hotmail.com or 07512 368884